

Earn Money for Your Association and Improve Public Safety

Painting Fire Hydrants in Your Neighborhood

Is your neighborhood association looking for a way to tidy up the neighborhood and earn some money?

City Utilities will pay your association $5 for each fire hydrant within your neighborhood that you paint this summer. Associations may participate in the painting program once in a five year period.

City Utilities will provide “hydrant yellow” paint and other supplies needed and can show you what to do. A fresh coat of bright yellow paint makes hydrants more visible to fire fighters when they need to find them at night, when it’s raining or when there is snow on the ground.

A check will be issued to the association after the locations of painted hydrants are submitted and verified.

Getting Started

Here are the steps you need to take:

- Contact City Utilities before you paint
- City Utilities will arrange for your association to pick-up paint and wire brushes for preparing the hydrant surface — you will need to provide paint brushes
- Keep track of the location of each hydrant you paint
- Submit a list with the location or address of each hydrant painted
- City Utilities will send a check to your association (checks will not be issued to individuals)
